

Noranita Mansor

Noranita Mansor is currently a tutor at the Department of Architecture, Faculty of Design and Architecture, UPM. Her specialization is in innovating interior architecture related to diverse users for the universal built environment. Her research interest is focusing on integrated interior design process and innovative design teaching and learning. She has presented and published several research papers related to her research interest locally and internationally. Besides the academic activity she is also involved in design consultation for in-house interior design project (UPM) and other commercial projects.

She graduated from Universiti Putra Malaysia with Master of Science (Architecture) in 2008 and Universiti Teknologi Mara with a Bachelor of Interior Architecture in 1999 and Diploma in Interior Design in 1996. After graduation, she worked for one year in an Interior Design Consultant firm, Design Principle Sdn Bhd. In July 2000, she joined Universiti Putra Malaysia as a tutor till present. Currently, she is waiting for her PhD examination (viva) at Universiti Putra Malaysia with the research topic 'Integrated Universal Design in Interior Design Process in accommodating diverse users in Malaysia'.

Qualification:

PhD Candidate
(Integrated Design Studies), UPM
Master of Science (Architecture) UPM
Bachelor of Interior Architecture UiTM
Dip. In interior Design UiTM

Working experience:

Faculty of Design and Architecture UPM
Building Material Supplier
Interior Design Consultant

Field of specialization:

Universal Interior Design, Ageing in Place and Integrated Interior Design Process

Contact No. :

+603 8946 4012 / +6019 791 7311

Department:

Department of Architecture,
Faculty of Design and Architecture, UPM

Email :

nita@upm.edu.my norannorman@yahoo.com

